Programme

Taking Elizabeth Fry, Quaker Prison Reformer as a role model, we discuss pertinent issues in relation to the high incarceration rate in NZ and seek to inspire, inform and encourage each other.

(a) We aim to develop ideas and measures on how we as individual Quakers can contribute to lowering this high rate, and how we can contribute to influencing a change in government policy.

(b) From these outcomes, we aim to compose a submission to the Governmental Justice Advisory Group, recommending practical step by step applications to influence public attitudes and governmental structures.

On Saturday, 5.30 pm, the Quaker Lecture will take place in town. Terry Waite, who was imprisoned himself and later worked as a hostage negotiator, will talk about 'Crime and Punishment' nicely fitting our theme.

If you need assistance with the cost of attending do not hesitate to contact your MM Oversight Committee.
